ScoreGang: Detroit W7M Field Intelligence Report (v2.0)

Abstract

ScoreGang is a street-level criminal organization operating out of Detroit’ s Five Points neighborhood, primarily concentrated along the West 7 Mile (W7M) corridor. Emerging post-2019 from the Bloc Side Soldiers and 24700 Blocc graffiti crews, the group evolved into a decentralized subset of the Crip Alliance, specifically claiming Evergreen-Telegraph Gangster Crip (ETGC) and 83 Gangster Crip (83GC/Hyena) identifiers. While often dismissed by external factions as clout-driven, field evidence confirms ScoreGang maintains functional territorial control through systematic tagging, roll-call enforcement, and violent retaliation against rivals like the West 7 Mile Black P. Stones (W7 BPS).

Documentation Methodology

Intelligence in this report is derived from direct field observation and a cross-reference of primary street archives:

- 313graffiti Archives: Forensic tracking of tag density and overwrite patterns.
- DetroitStreetGangs.com: Database records for W7M ETGC and historical Bloc Side Soldiers lineage.
- Zahid Sekou ("Tiny Joker") Repositories: Digital roll calls, hand-drawn maps, and subset branding (clique rosters).
- Detroit News (Aug 2025): Investigative coverage of "Tag Wars" linked to West 7 Mile shooting incidents.
- Visual Reconnaissance: On-wall photography of the 24700 Blocc, Frisbee Street, and Grandview.

Origins and Historical Evolution

Post-2019, the Bloc Side Soldiers fractured. Younger members transitioned from pure tagging to a Crip-aligned operational structure to project street-level power. The adoption of the "ScoreGang" (SCRG) and "Hyena" branding was a calculated move to align with national 83GC aesthetics without formal out-of-state sanctioning.

The group’ s founder and primary documentarian, Zahid Sekou (Tiny Joker), codified the gang’ s structure. He utilized digital platforms to publish "roll calls" that named active members, effectively forcing street-level commitment. While law enforcement focuses on high-level RICO targets, ScoreGang expanded in the Five Points vacuum, using paint to stake claims before securing them with firearms.

Graffiti as Primary Battlefield

In the W7M corridor, graffiti is not art; it is a tactical territorial marker. Tagging over a rival’ s spot is a direct declaration of war that frequently ends in shots fired.

Core Territorial Hotspots

| Location | Significance |
| --- | --- |
| 24200–24800 W. 7 Mile | Operational core; highest density of ETGC/SCRG tags. |
| 24700 Blocc (Frisbee/Grandview) | Tactical HQ; location of "24700 Blocc" and "26Gang" signatures. |
| Grand River & Telegraph | Perimeter marker; Metro PCS storefront is a frequent overwrite site. |
| 24400-24599 Block | High-intensity zone; over 210 |

|---|---|
| | documented tagging incidents/cross-outs. |

Field Identifiers

- Common Tags: ETGC, 83GC, SCRG, W7M, "Hyena Crips Got Control."
- Visual Ciphers: Three-finger "C" hand signs integrated into the ETG cipher.
- Tactical Displays: Blue paint throw-ups and systematic shoe-hanging on power lines at 24700 Blocc intersections to signal "Crip Controlled" territory.

Internal Structure and Clique Breakdown

ScoreGang operates on a decentralized model. Cliques function autonomously but adhere to the overarching ETGC branding.

| Clique Name | Primary Area | Known Status |
|---|---|---|
| 24700 Blocc | Frisbee St / Grandview | Lead operational cell; enforcement. |
| Baby Hyenas | NW Detroit Corridor | Recruitment-level youth subset; primary |

| 26Gang | Peripheral W7M | Affiliated neighborhood muscle; integrated via roll calls. |

Key Verified Facts vs. Open Questions

- Verified Fact: ScoreGang transitioned from the Bloc Side Soldiers post-2019 to fill a power vacuum in Five Points.
- Verified Fact: Primary triggers for violence are "cross-outs" of ETGC tags by W7 Black P. Stones.
- Verified Fact: Tiny Joker is the central figure for branding and documentation, regardless of internal clique disputes.
- Open Question: The current level of direct coordination between 24700 Blocc and out-of-state 83GC chapters remains unconfirmed by federal intelligence.
- Open Question: The stability of the 26Gang alliance following recent law enforcement pressure on W7M.

Conclusion: Reality vs. Lore

There is a persistent tension between ScoreGang’ s self-promoted digital image and its independent street verification. While online critics and some rival factions label Tiny Joker’ s documentation as "clout-driven lore," the functional reality on the ground contradicts this. The physical presence of over 200 documented tags in the 24000-block corridor, coupled with Detroit News reports of violence tied to these specific markers, confirms ScoreGang is a legitimate street entity.

The gang’ s power is derived from its visibility. By dominating the visual landscape of West 7 Mile, ScoreGang has successfully established a "no-go" zone for rivals. Whether the branding is self-appointed or sanctioned is irrelevant to the street-level outcome: ScoreGang controls the 24700 Blocc, and they use violence to maintain it. Future stability in Five Points depends entirely on breaking the cycle of tag-retaliation that fuels their recruitment and territorial expansion.
